English. He asked the policeman his No. When he woke from a much needed Slos. But the compar sot hot And chabbed him a lot. Then had on a pig pile of Lo.

On planes and organs she lbs., Making strange and my sterious sbs., And the watchman calls out Sweet Joys of Childhord.

I long and I pine with a yearning intense for the loy of a day that is fied; I steen wire feeling, I merge ev'ry sense In a wish for old pleasures now deal. With serrow unfergued I dream of a time When the was a stranger to me.
When the was filled full of a quiet sublime,
My spirit was tranquil and free.

With passionate longing I think on the days. Untouchest by the rune hand of ills, When youth was untroubled by blame or And Patner was footing the bills.
